Jazz

DRAM is designed to facilitate the research of scholars, teachers and students by offering on-demand, streaming access to an extensive and ever-growing catalog of essential music.

Recordings are accompanied by the complete original liner notes and essays, keyword-searchable using numerous criteria, including composer, performer, and work title.

In DRAM

DRAM provides a unique collection of works by jazz artists, many not available from other sources. Artists represented include Earl Hines, Muhal Richard Abrams, Dave Douglas, the New York Composers Orchestra, Butch Morris, the Vanguard Jazz Orchestra, Marty Ehrlich and many others.

Future Highlights

As DRAM grows, so too will its jazz holdings. Most notably with content from:

- o innova Recordings: A composer and artist collective affiliated with the Minneapolis-based American Composers Forum providing acclaimed recordings by the Brooklyn Sax Quartet, Fred Ho, Anthony Braxton, Mark Applebaum, Paul Austerlitz, PRISM Saxophone Quartet and more.

Useful Tips

- Visit DRAM at: www.dramonline.org
- Simple keyword searches are likely to be the most successful. If you are not sure about the spelling of a composer's name or work's title, DRAM's browse feature can also help locate an item.
- Contact answers@dramonline.org if you have any questions or would like a 30-day trial.
